MANNY HUBBARD FAVORS CHANGES IN COUNTY BEATS

R. G. "Manny" Hubbard, supervisor of Beat Five of Hancock County this week went on record as wholeheartedly favoring the proposal to change county beat lines.

Hubbard, in a statement of the Echo, said he hopes the people of Hancock will realize that this plan to change beat lines is an opportunity for them to obtain fair representation.

"Many people have asked my viewpoint of the proposed change of beat lines of Hancock County. Let me go on record as saying that in my opinion it would be one of the best things that has ever been proposed by the people of this county. I am so glad to see the people coming forward to add their word and display such an interest in the affairs of the County," Hubbard said.

He added, "If this proposed change is made, for the first time in many years we will have fair representation, with each beat being divided as equally as possible in population and assessed valuation. Each Supervisor will then be representing one fifth of the people of the county, as the law states it should be. "With the redistribution of the voting power, any man wishing to run for public office in any of the five Districts will have a far better chance of being elected with 1000 votes in his district, than he would have with only three or four hundred. The larger a District is, the less chance a politician in office has to control the votes. Payroll votes cannot sway an election in a large district, (which was proven in Beat 5 in 1951.)

"The Road and Bridge money is divided into five equal parts to be used specifically for the roads and bridges of each District. These funds are never used on the Seawall, which has its separate fund. Even in District 5, where the entire Seawall and Beach Road is located, our Road and Bridge money is never spent on the upkeep of the seawall or Beach Road. In August 1953, there was $73,000 in the Seawall fund for maintenance only. So don't let anyone tell you that the proposed change of beat lines will take any money away from any of the five districts for the upkeep or maintenance of the seawall. This would not be true.

Another proponent of the beat changes, Henry Osinich this week requested that all petitions being circulated on the question be turned in this week for a count. They will then be released again to obtain more signatures.

Blood Drawing October 13th at Youth Center

A public blood drawing to supply much needed units for the Hancock County blood bank at Foundation Hospital will be held at the Bay Youth Center on October 13th from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m., it was announced this week.

At a meeting of the Hancock County blood bank committee, composed of the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, the Chamber of Commerce, City of Bay St. Louis, Knights of Columbus and Masonic Lodge, President George Heitzmann issued the call for more blood supplies.

A quart of ice cream, donated by Wilson Weber, will be given each donor present at the drawing. Another free gift to donors will be a one week's free pass to the Highway Drive-In, this donated by Nelius C. Rhodes. Efforts will be made to secure donations of a pound of coffee to the blood donors, also.

In calling for blood donations, Heitzmann said there is a constant drain on the blood bank supply by citizens of this county. In one case 12 units of blood were needed recently. The bank, he said, is credited with saving the lives of several persons since it began several months ago.

Clermont Home Looted Of $2000 Of Goods

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Buckles of Clermont Harbor was the scene of an estimated two thousand dollar robbery believed to have taken place nearly two weeks ago, after the home was closed for the winter.

According to a report by Constable Nolan Kingston, investigating officer on the case, The Buckles left their summer home in Clermont Harbor on Labor Day to return to New Orleans. Several weeks later neighbors noticed that the screen was cut by one of the windows and that the glass had been broken. They contacted the owners of the house and when they arrived they found the house almost completely empty.

"The gas range was one of the items taken and the gas had been left on. The windows were left open to let the gas escape. A truck was driven to the back of the house and the missing goods were loaded through the back door," officials said.

The constable continued, "We have one suspect at this time. We cannot divulge his name. We think it is someone who knew the layout of the house and knew the people who occupied it had left for New Orleans. They had to know this. I don't believe anybody would attempt to load all of that stuff in a truck if they thought that the owners would return. It must have taken over two hours to do the job.

"We hope there is a chance for an immediate arrest."

All of the furniture and the appliances that were stolen were new. As far as the investigators place on or about September 16. Mr. and Mrs. Buckles stated that the household furnishings were not covered by insurance.

Boyter Sobs With Joy As Jury Frees Him From Murder Charge Following 43 Minutes' Session

By GREGORY FAYRE (C) Sea Coast Echo

Two words, spoken by Judge Leslie Grant, transformed Howard Boyter, the accused murderer, from the dingy, depressed square of a jail cell into the society of the outer world.

They lifted him from man's blackest dungeon and gave him a new chance at life. He walked from the court room a free man.

Monday night at 9:50, the jury of 12 returned with its verdict. It deliberated 43 minutes before reaching a final decision.

This was the climax of a day long session, which saw several hours devoted to the selection of the jury before full panel was approved by both sides.

Gaston Lee, the eye-witness in the case, told that he had seen Boyter strike Novak with a board that he had taken from the fire. He said, "Novak and Boyter were arguing and Novak said, 'I'll kill you, I'll kill you' to Boyter. Then both men reached for the same board. Boyter got it first and struck Novak across the left side of his face. After this I told my son, who had been sleeping and Roosevelt Faye, who was across the street that we had better go. I didn't think the man was hurt badly."

Lee continued, "I don't know who started the argument. Boyter was doing most of the talking. The argument was over the coffee pot and ice box. Boyter said something about Novak leaving them somewhere."

In answering a direct question from District Attorney Holleman, Lee stated that none had been drinking.

Defense Attorney Sam Favre then asked him a series of questions concerning the bottle of whiskey, which Boyter had said was present. Lee said, "I don't remember Roosevelt Faye having a fifth of labeled Eury Times. I also don't remember Novak taking a drink of whiskey."

He stated that he had not seen Novak's son, G. W. and Faye for several hours. He said, "I was sleeping during that time."

"At the time the blow was struck there was only Novak, Boyter and myself around the fire. Mrs. Boyter was in the truck sleeping with her son and Faye was in our camp. Novak did not get his hand on the board. Boyter went to the truck after the blow. I didn't see Novak's body again until the next afternoon around 2:30. I found out then that he was dead."

The next witness had just arrived from Labrador. He had been flown in to testify in this case. G. W. Lee, son of Gaston, who is in the Air Force took the stand.

In answers to questions by the District Attorney the young Lee said, "I went to sleep. The next thing I knew my dad woke me up and told me those people were fighting and we had better go."

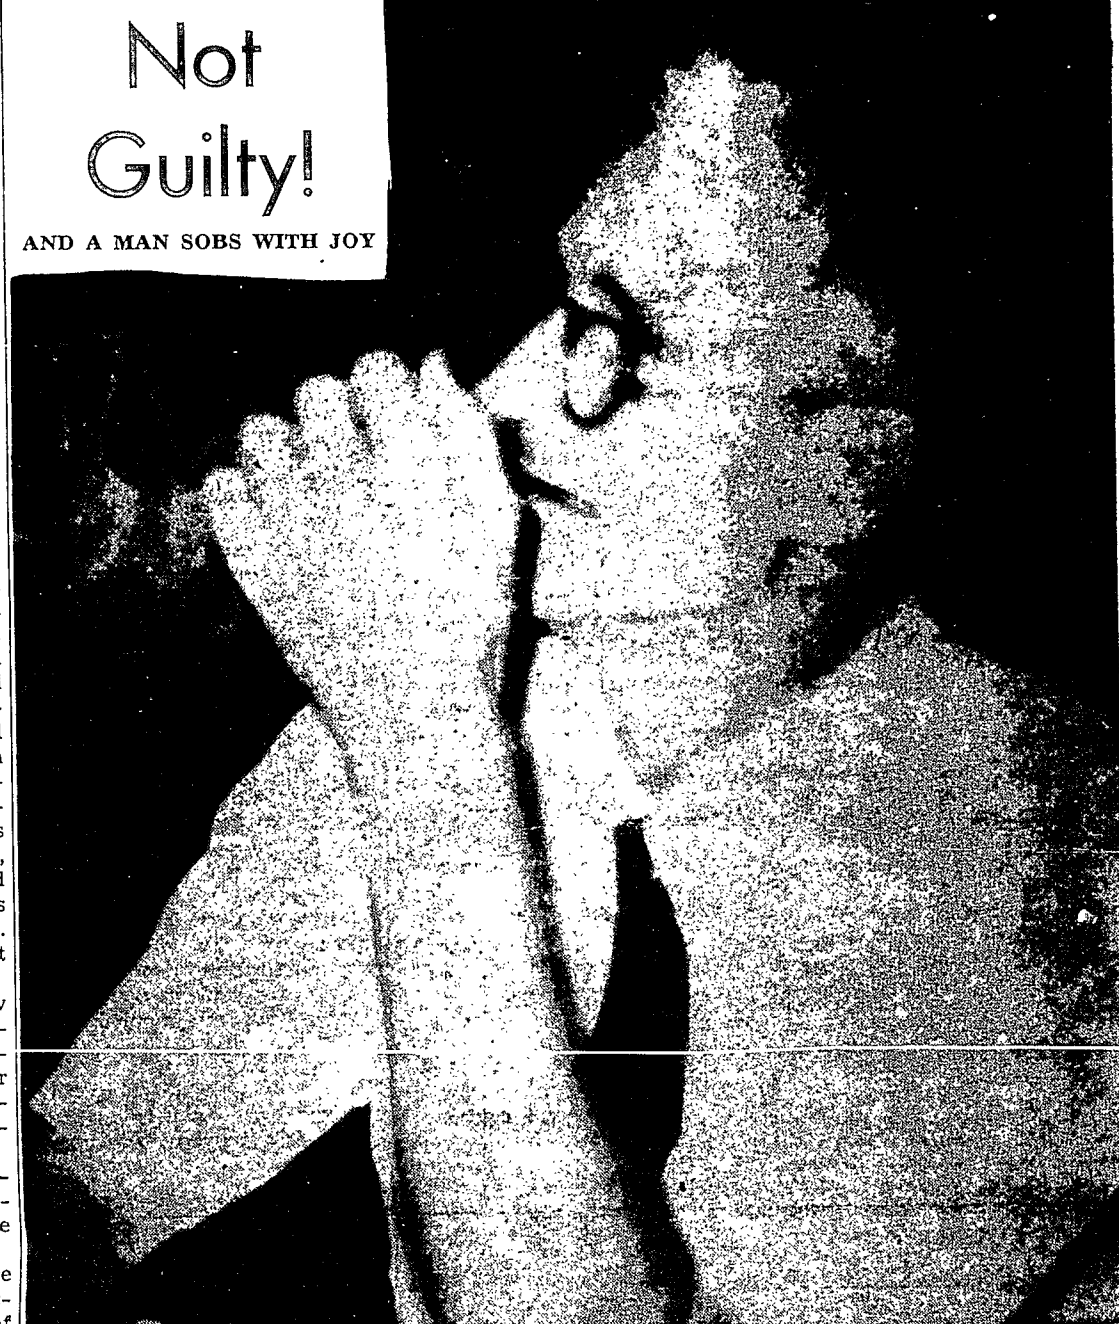

Favre started questioning the witness. "When we had coffee with them the next morning I saw Novak. I didn't pay any attention to him. He was lying on the ground a short distance from us. I didn't come back until that afternoon."

Virginia McLeod, a 77 year old Kiln resident testified she called the sheriff but didn't know who killed Novak.

Daisy Henry an elderly Negro woman who lives near the Jordan River said "Saturday morning I walking past the bridge and I saw a woman pouring water on the back of a man's head. He was lying with his face in the ground. I told her that if you don't turn him over he will smother. He was lying in the sun. Boyter came up as I was fixing to leave. They didn't move the man then. I even offered to help."

Favre asked her if she knew what happened to the man. She said "No sir."

The State then rested its case. The only witness called to the stand by the defense was Mrs. Boyter. She told Favre "My husband had gone to get some water. I saw someone offer him a drink of whiskey. But he didn't drink any. After a while everyone was around the campfire. They were all drinking but my husband. They were feeling pretty good. I didn't hear any arguments between my husband and Novak. Roosevelt Faye was arguing with Novak about the whiskey. He told Novak that he had better find the whiskey before G. W. woke up. I went to sleep in the truck. I didn't see my husband hit Novak."

"When I woke up the next morning I saw a little blood on Novak. I thought he was drunk. He was facing upwards. My husband suggested that we call a doctor. We moved him in the shade and went and ran our fishing line."

Holleman began to ask her questions. She said "My husband didn't tell me he had an argument with Novak. He told me that he couldn't put up with all the arguing going on."

She then said, "He woke me up and told me that Johnny Novak had accused him of taking the bottle of whiskey. When I saw Novak the next morning he was lying on his side. I poured water in his face to wake him up for some coffee. I knew he wasn't sleeping. I thought he was drunk. He tried to answer me. His eyes were open."

Mrs. Boyter began to cry on the stand. She continued, "I wiped his face off with a piece of rag. We went to run the lines. When we came back the second time there was a little more blood than the first time. That is when Daisy Henry came. She didn't tell me he was going to another. The next time we came back there was a crowd of people and Novak was covered with a sheet."

STARS OF THE WEEK

ST. STANISLAUS

Woody Santa Cruz, a power driving fullback, is the boy selected for this place of merit this week.

Woody, a Bay St. Louis boy, is a concerted back-field man. Last year he lettered on the varsity at center. During spring training Coach Day decided to try Woody at fullback. It proved successful. He improves at his new position with each game or practice.

In the Vigor game Woody scored the only touchdown registered by the Stanislaus team. He accounted for the majority of yardage gained. Several times he went through the line for 10 or 15 yards. His touchdown run was for 25 yards.

One old time fan overheard to say at the game that Woody reminded him of a miniature "Doc" Blanchard, when the All-American great was a high school player for the Rockchaws.

His best asset is power. He is hard to bring down. He bulldozes his way for extra yardage many times.

Woody is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Santa Cruz. He is a senior at Stanislaus.

BAY HIGH

A boy nicknamed "Go Go" by his coach and teammates lived up to this compliment in Bay High's game with Our Lady of Victory last week.

Hugo Favre, a junior, ran with plenty of power and determination from his fullback slot. He is a big boy who is very fast. He has a lot of hustle.

His main weakness at this time is his eagerness.

As his coach, Lance Lumpkin said, "He is a hard driving boy. A good ball player. He is a little eager now but when he calms down he will be very profitable to the team."

Hugo fumbled at one crucial point in the ball game against the Pascagoula team but he redeemed himself by intercepting a pass and running it back to the 10 yard line of his opponents. He took that ball out of the receiver's hands and traveled some 35 yards.

In the first game of the season against Nichols Hugo was the leading ground gainer for the night. He was one of the leaders in the latest game.

He loves to run through the line. He plays ball to win. He is always striving to improve himself. When a couple of yards are needed for a first down Hugo is the boy who will gain them.

He is a good competitor.

A boy who takes the game seriously and to heart.

Buyers' Mart

Bay St. Louis has one of the most exemplary industries in the state in the early stages of its development. The Buyers' Mart, after hearing some of the details from the Farmers Home Administration office here, points it out as something special in the way of purchasing.

The comparatively youthful dairy industry in Hancock County began as practically nothing, since fine dairy cattle still must be imported and the state in general is considered farm country.

Now there are 60 dairy farms in the county and funds available from the FHA for more. The average investment for these farms, according to Mr. Burrill, the FHA representative here, is $6000 for cattle and equipment and $7000 for land improvement in about half a million dollars yearly to the county.

In order to learn more about these dairy loans for farmers, it would be necessary to contact Burrill at the Agricultural Center. He is very enthusiastic about the success of the dairy farm program and will be willing to consider especially the cases where veterans are finding it hard to obtain loans for land.

The way the program operates, the FHA can buy for the veteran his farm and set him up in business on it. The amount of equipment needed varies, of course, but the office has on many occasions started completely from scratch—putting into the dairy business, as Burrill says—veterans and others "who haven't two nickels to rub together."

This plan has paid off; for Hancock County, a poor farming area, leads all the state in repayment of these FHA loans. Some veterans are as much as a year ahead in their payments and there is no section of the country ahead of these vets on a per capita basis.

As to the dairy farms themselves, their success has been such, with imported cattle—mostly from Wisconsin—that in about three or four years, the administrator says, the county can start selling some of its dairy cows.

A large segment of the property bought by the FHA for these dairy farms is known as lien land. This acreage was county land acquired by the State of Mississippi during the depression and later turned over to the various counties of the state in order that income from it could be used for schools. Thus Bolivar County, for example, has been owning part of Hancock County for many years. And the FHA, as it can, is buying some of it back from other counties for the dairy farmers here.

If you are interested in one of these loans, your first step is to contact the FHA office in the Center here. There are three or four million dollars available in the state for these farms, and the county can obtain the money on a first come, first serve basis.

Stanislaus Ties Vigor Bay Hi Loses

BRING UNDEFEATED RECORD INTO TOWN FOR FIRST HOME GAME

St. Stanislaus plays its first home game Friday night against Moss Point. It returns from two games on the road with an undefeated record.

In its second encounter of the season last week Stanislaus tied Vigor, of Pritchard, Ala., 6-6.

Stanislaus could not capitalize on its breaks and scoring opportunities in the Vigor game. In the first half, on three occasions the team drove within the 15 yard line of its opponent and could not cross into the end zone for a score.

Coach Farley Day said, "If you get opportunities to score and fail to do so you can't win a ball game."

"We never like to tie," he continued, "but it is better than a defeat. But we weren't settling for a tie last Friday night."

Woody Santa Cruz accounted for Stanislaus' points on a 25 yard run off the left tackle. This happened two minutes after the second half began.

Vigor tied the game up in the same quarter with a touchdown pass.

Both teams missed the kick for an extra point.

With 30 seconds remaining in the second quarter Leon Fazio rushed through the line and blocked a Vigor punt. He recovered the ball on the three yard line. Stanislaus tried one play without any success and the whistle blew for the half.

A fumble by Ed Hargrove and a missed pass by Louis Ladner eliminated two chances for the local team to add to its score.

Hargrove fumbled on the Vigor 20 and Ladner dropped a pass on Vigor's 10 yard line.

The highlight of the running game came when James Schexnayer, the right end for Stanislaus, took a handoff for the left half and swung wide around the left side on an end around. He galloped 25 yards before being stopped by the safety man.

In Moss Point Stanislaus meets a team that is tied for the leadership of the Big Eight Conference. The Jackson County team has won its first two games. It defeated Biloxi 18-6 and Brookhaven 14-7.

Coach Day said, "We will be lucky if we make a first down. In practice Tuesday we couldn't even make one against the second string."

"Our pass offense looked poor in the Vigor game but this was due mostly to the pass protection.

MONTI SCORES ON 25 YARD MEET PASS HI HERE TONIGHT

Bay High was the victim of bad breaks and the loser of its second game of the season Thursday against O. L. V. 12-8.

Tonight it meets a neighboring team in Pass Christian High on the St. Stanislaus field.

Coach Lance Lumpkin said, "We are trying to improve some of the mistakes we made last week. Both Tommy Moran and Donald Cole, who were injured in the game last week, will be ready tonight."

"The lineup will be changed a little bit in the line, Perkins and Landrum will play the guards with Bobby Boudin, the outstanding lineman, at right tackle. We will use the same backfield as last week."

He continued, "I know we will be in there in the Pass game doing our best all of the way. Most of our mistakes last week were due to inexperience. I think we can overcome these."

Henry Monti scored for Bay High last week on a 25 yard run. The try for extra point was missed. With a couple of minutes remaining in the second quarter Donald Cole, the first string quarterback had to be removed from the game because of a sprain and upper cheek. He was taken to the doctor for immediate attention. The cut required 10 stitches.

Bay High was given two points on a safety when the visiting team's punter stepped out of the end zone while punting in the last quarter. This gave Bay Hi a two point lead with a few minutes remaining in the game.

Then a O. L. V. halfback scooted his own right end for 65 yards for the winning touchdown.

Bay High fumbled in scoring positions a number of times. Some missed passes also cost the team scoring opportunities.

After Cole was hurt Donald Landers took over at quarterback. But he did not have the necessary game experience to handle it well.

This week Coach Lumpkin has raised Grady Perkins the junior team quarterback to the varsity. He is a 120 pound freshman.

Lumpkin said, "It is possible that Perkins will see some action against Pass Christian. He is potentially a great little quarterback. He will definitely give us more depth in this position."

Game time tonight is 8 o'clock.

Shower Honors

The table centerpiece was an arrangement of the pastel and white flowers with a pretty parasol. Cakes and refreshments carried out the same color theme.

The honoree was dressed in a black and white ensemble, with matching accessories.

Mrs. Laura chose for the party a navy blue outfit and Mrs. Herlihy was gowned in Navy.

Among the Bay St. Louis guests attending was the mother of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Sam Benigno and a sister, Mrs. Mary Vassali.

A Fine Idea

Knights of Columbus are to be praised for bringing Roy speak at Bay St. Louis. The newspaper is against Cohn, Joe McCarthy and their kind. But in a free nation there must be free speech and the must be heard on every question. That is the only way we can get the truth. It is especially difficult in small towns to get first-hand news because the people who make the news are so remote. But occasionally they do pass through. And it was through the Bay St. Louis K. of C. seized the opportunity to hear this controversial figure. Cohn said nothing particularly sensational to the K.C.s. He didn't find any Communists lurking around Bay St. Louis. He said that came as no surprise. A group of Bay St. Louis folks did get to see and hear Cohn and that's an opportunity they otherwise would have missed. Perhaps more efforts should be made to bring informative speakers here. When Attorney Dan Russell and some associates came here last year, a packed house paid cash at the door to hear him. He showed that the interest is there. All we need is the chance again. - cheers to the Knights of Columbus in Bay St.

Who Killed Novak?

Howard Boyter, the accused murderer, has been acquitted. He is a free man. The murder of John Novak on August 14 was lifted from his shoulders by a court of law. The jury found "Not Guilty."

John Novak is still dead. That is one point no one can deny. The jury still leaves the question of why and how? The jury find Howard Boyter not guilty because of the self defense? Or did they believe that he had never killed Novak? The latter is the case, then who is guilty? Who killed Novak? Who swung the blow that caused multiple fractures in Novak's skull? There are the missing pieces of this puzzle of life and death? It is the right of the citizens of Hancock County to know the truth. It was found not guilty. It was self defense. It was a jury believed that he did defend himself. But if it was not this, if they believe that Howard Boyter as he had said, "had to do with it," then who and what was the killer? Is he talking the streets of society? Will we ever know the answers to these questions?

A Noteworthy Occasion

Stanislaus celebrates its 100th anniversary October 10. It is a great occasion for this community. We will be visitors from far and wide to mark the anniversary of this school which started under such hardships. Stanislaus has been a true friend of Bay St. Louis. It has been over - and deep down into Latin America. The entire community should rejoice and pay its tribute to Stanislaus as it passes this historic milestone.

Come to grow ON

It looks a little big at first. But you know from experience you need to allow for growing.

That's the way it is with electricity. Your electric company always works and plans ahead to have some extra for your future needs. So that, no matter how many appliances you add to your home, you can always count on all the electric power you want.

The average American family is using twice as much electricity as it did ten years ago. And the electric light and power companies are planning to have half again as much more ready by 1960. So, you see, there's plenty to grow on!

COASTING

By ANNE ORLEANS

Of the many well-beloved persons who, upon retirement, left New Orleans to come to live on the Coast, Dr. and Mrs. Hilman Kostmeyer were among the most popular. Dr. Kostmeyer had been head of the Tulane University, School of Medicine and on retiring he and Mrs. Kostmeyer lived in an attractive cottage with a yard full of flowers on Jeff Davis Avenue. A little over a year ago, they decided to sell this home and move to Nyack, N. Y., to be near their son John, his wife and the three grandchildren. Being near the family was wonderful but the climate kept them indoors too many months of the year so they came back South but bought a home in Covington, La., to the great disappointment of their many friends on the Coast who are asking, "What does Covington have that we do not have?" One thing sure, Covington does not have the Gulf breeze. But the Coast still calls them and one day last week they came over to spend the day with Dean and Mrs. Robert and we all hope that this is the first of many visits.

Another old friend came to see Dean and Mrs. Robert lately. Miss Gertrude Murray who used to live in New Orleans and still has many friends there but who has made her home in Charleston, S. C., for several years spent several days in Waveland at the Robert home.

The big Kiwanis Convention at the Buena Vista in Biloxi brought over many members from the New Orleans area. W. O. Steele, President of the West Side group, and Mrs. Steele stayed in Waveland on their way over for a week end visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Byers. They were honor guests at a barbecue given by Mr. and Mrs. James Rees, close friends and weekend neighbors of the Byers.

Mrs. Byers has just returned from a visit to New Orleans and to the Belle Chasse home of her daughter, Mrs. Owen J. Bradley.

Three generations have owned this home and the fourth and fifth generations are also enjoying the home on Beach Blvd., in Waveland now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hayward formerly of New Orleans and owners of Germania Plantation between Donaldsonville and White Castle, La., that the Haywards still call home because they raised their family there. Their sons William, John and Douglas now run the plantation but their daughter, Mrs. Paul Ranken lives in New Orleans. There is a great deal of visiting between the three places but when the fishing is good, the sons and grandsons join Mr. Hayward and everyone has a wonderful time.

Going and coming at the Johnston home. Alec Johnston, a close friend over for the day recently. In summer, he and Betty frequently commute from New Orleans on Sundays to attend church at the Bay.

Rev. Charles Johnson, in Jackson, Miss., to represent Christ Episcopal Church of Bay St. Louis at a special executive meeting called by Bishop Duncombe H. Gray.

A nice gift is always appreciated but when an unusual gift is of service to many persons, it is invaluable. Mrs. Archibald I. Bruff who when she lived in New Orleans did a great deal of work for her church, has continued her good deeds at the Bay. She recently presented to Christ Church a Book of Remembrance. It is handsomely bound in tooled leather and is enclosed in a beautiful case.

Lloyd and Evelyn Griffith back at their North Bay home after several short trips to New Orleans. They attended the wedding of Mary Barry and Paul Bowren of Birmingham and also several parties preceding the wedding. Evelyn gave a pre-wedding luncheon for the bride and groom. Members of the wedding party, the Berry family and other friends of the family came over to the Coast for the day. It was informal and a whole lot of fun.

If you are driving along the Beach, don't go all the way to Clermont Harbor looking for the Waveland STOPLIGHT. It is in Mothalls for the year. Probable date of release, Fourth of July, 1955.

Mr. and Mrs. Quid making some nice improvements on their cottage on the Beach. The front porch has been enclosed to make a new living room and a new screened porch, ten by twenty will be built across the front. Mr. Quid is one of those "do-it-yourself" experts and is taking time off from his work in New Orleans to get this job done before the cold weather sets in.

The guests got lost. They really did. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lasker and Magdalena and Anna Maria Fisher, Mrs. Lasker's sisters, had the barbecue pit going, the tender chicken ready, the special family barbecue sauce already mixed and the cool crisp salad in the refrigerator. Buns were piled high and the dessert ready to serve. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kelly, the guests drove over from New Orleans, missed Sears Avenue and Third Street and ended up a couple of miles further down. All's well that ends well because around two o'clock they found the Laskers and the delicious lunch.

Ed Lasker left for New York to attend the World Series, an event that he enjoys so much and has not missed in many years.

All is quiet on the family front at the North Beach home of the Paul Gaudes. With the three boys at school in North Carolina said their mother, Lucy, "Peace, it is really wonderful."

Visiting Isble and Charles Gremlion and little Chlp, is Cleon Agnew, Isble's sister and her five month old daughter, Jeanie, while Harmon Agnew is on duty at the Command School at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama.

Bert and Betty Paterson of New Orleans have bought a lot and are building a week-end home in one of the new subdivisions near the Bay. Betty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hackett who divide their time between their apartment in New Orleans and their home at Pass Christian.

Lizzie Turner has returned to Hollins College in Virginia, for her Senior year. Lizzie was several days late getting back to school as she was a bridesmaid in Mary Berry Bowren's wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Fraering over last weekend after having been away for three weeks. There is a new baby in the family. Their son and daughter-in-law, John and Mary Leigh Fraering. She was named for her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Weston. Little John Martin Fraering, Jr., visited with Mr. and Mrs. Fraering while his mother and new sister were at the hospital.

Visitors have slowed down at the Lakeshore home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Charbonnet. The Coirons have to stay in New Orleans because little George, III, has started nursery school.

News from Jean Charbonnet, Jr., finds him settled in Quiriquire, Venezuela, S. A., where he is working for the Creole Petroleum Co. Jean flew down and his car and heavy baggage followed by boat. He likes the country and says that the food is wonderful.

Stork Special. Another little boy has been added to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ball. James Edward Ball, to be known as Billy, arrived in New Orleans and weighed 8 pounds, 13 ozs. He and his mother are back home in Pecan Grove Lane. Linda and Ronnie are keeping a reserved seat in the pony cart for Billy.

Notes

by HOWARD SIMMONS

POULTRY

Better make arrangements now to close up part of the poultry house when cold weather arrives. In hot weather air passage through the poultry house is called "cross ventilation," and is desired. However, in cold weather such air movement is called drafts. These drafts are dangerous.

Drafts encourage colds and colds mean a heavy loss in egg production. So don't have air coming into your poultry house from more than one side during the fall and winter.

Houses and windows and under window ventilators should be closed up tight on three sides. Pole type houses, open all the way from floor to roof, should be wrapped tight on three sides.

Most of such houses have roof type ventilators. Any openings in the lower half of the wall may result in updrafts of air out through the roof top ventilator. In really cold weather, all sides of the house should be closed up. In this case, the roof top ventilator will furnish plenty of ventilation.

TREATING SORGHUM SEED Anguimoths and rice weevils damage sorghum seed in storage. Reduce this damage by treating the seed heads when you spread them to dry.

Materials to use include DDT and commercially prepared grain protectant.

DDT. Use one percent, five percent or 10 percent DDT dust. You can use 50 percent DDT wettable powder if you mix it nine to one with flour.

Use an ounce and a half of DDT dust six level tablespoons to one cubic foot of seed heads. Example - seed heads spread 10 feet by 10 feet by one half foot deep equals 50 cubic feet.

Grain protectant. (0.8 percent piperonyl and 0.05 percent pyrethrin). Not quite as effective as DDT. It is commercially prepared and ready to use. Do not use protectant dusts in which allethrins have been substituted for a part of the pyrethrins.

Use three ounces (12 level tablespoons) for each cubic foot of seed heads.

How to apply. Sift dust onto seed heads using flour sack, sheeting or coarse sack. Hand dust guns may be used. Stir seed heads several times with a pitch fork to help insecticide sift to seed heads below.

After thrashing, seed should be treated again with either an ounce and a half of DDT or three ounces of grain protectant to each 10 pounds of seed. This will protect seed while stored in sacks until planting time.

Caution. Do not feed treated seed to poultry or livestock.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, OCTOBER 3-9, 1954

National fire prevention week, October 3-9, is a good time for you to take stock of the fire hazards around your farm and home. At the same time you can check on your fire fighting equipment.

Here is what you need in the way of equipment to fight fire. Have an adequate supply of water available at any season of the year. Place approved fire extinguishers at the barn, machine sheds and storage places for gasoline and kerosene. Have garden hoses or filled water barrels and buckets located in spots where you can get them in use in a hurry.

Safe ladders long enough to use for rescue purposes and to reach the highest inflammable roof top are recommended. A back-pack pump, fire swatter, wet brooms or wet burlap bags for fighting grass fires are a big help.

Now, check your fire hazards. Here is what to do: Make sure that your electric wiring is equipped with lightning arresters to ground any lightning that might come in over electric supply lines.

Q. If one is writing a letter to a young girl of twelve or fourteen, should one address it merely to "Mary Jones"?

A. No, the prefix "Miss" is for a young girl also.

Q. If all the guests at a dinner, with the exception of one, have refused the second helping of a certain dish, is it all right for that one person to accept?

Clay Blair Has New Book Published

By ANNE ORLEANS

It is a far cry and several centuries since the Knights of the Round Table filled their lances and drew their swords and fought, not only for maidens in distress but for many seemingly lost causes. When the lance and the sword were laid aside the pen and the gun took their place, fighting for right and justice. Today, the typewriter and the fission weapons carry on the never ending fight.

Clay Blair, Jr., formerly of Bay St. Louis and New Orleans has now established himself as a defender of men whose motives may be misunderstood but whose work and efforts have produced, even over seemingly unconquerable obstacles and obstructions, victorious results in new defense and offense steps for our country.

Last year, Clay's first book, THE ATOMIC SUBMARINE AND ADMIRAL RICKOVER was published. It was a success in almost every section of the United States because of its controversial subjects and the actual building of the NAUTILUS, the first Atomic Submarine. The book went into three printings and the publishers granted rights of publication in England. The NAUTILUS after a year of careful checks is being commissioned for active service this week.

On September 30, Clay's new book THE HYDROGEN BOMB, to be published in collaboration with James R. Shepley, will be released. It is a different type of book and should have a wider appeal because of tremendous world wide interest in the H-bomb. Naturally, the Oppenheimer Case, Dr. Edward Teller and the battle over the H-bomb are the basis for the writing of this book. The book contains Dr. Teller's fight for the bomb.

A great deal of advance publicity has preceded the publication of the book. Life Magazine carried a special feature article about it and Clay and Shepley have been invited to appear on AUTHOR MEET CRITICS Sunday television show, which will be back on Sept. 30.

Sportsweek

GREGORY FAVRE

Board of the St. Stanislaus school has a plan for a sports week to be held during the month of October.

Charles Gaudet, principal of the school, is proud to have the St. Stanislaus school as one of the best in the district.

A new electrical scoreboard will add beauty and charm to the aging stone monument on Necaise Avenue.

A beverage company, which has a large sale in Bay St. Louis, donated this attraction toward the betterment of the stadium.

It was reported that the estimate of the cost of the scoreboard is $1500, which should put this under the heading of quite a generous contribution. It will not be her effort this week's games because it is being shipped from Chicago. But will arrive in the near future.

A press box has been planned. This is another step toward bringing the stadium up-to-date. We welcome this adjustment with open arms.

A phone is scheduled to be installed in the new box with outlets on the field for use by the coach. What a help this will be to the brains behind the team. This will give the coach a bird's eye view of his opponent, an advantage that is desired by many surrounding high schools.

These are the major improvements. We must agree that it will be a good season's work when it is all completed. But still we must harp on our few more suggestions for a more modern field.

For a person to spend money to see a ball game he must be assured of a decent place to sit during the course of the game. The present stands in the stadium are not. The paint is still removable on a damp night.

And how about our visitors? Many clubs that came here to meet our home town boys carry a large crowd with them. But to their dismay and discomfort they have to contend with a couple of makeshift, portable stands that will not hold many over a hundred fans.

This is not the way to extend hospitality to our guests. We should be more courteous. Offer them some of our seats if necessary. That is what a gentleman does when a guest arrives at his house and he is short on accommodations. Let's be gracious and think about the other fellow for a change and give him a place to view the football activities of his son or otherwise.

But, please, if this can be made possible, do not make a replica of the home side stands. We don't want the visiting parents and alumni to remember us by the gray paint on the seats of their nice new pants.

And last, but surely not least, the field itself. It is not as its best. But with a little work it could be worked into one that would suffice for any game.

All of these things will cost money, but if everyone joins in contributing to the total cost it will be small cost to the individual. Each any every person who lives in Hancock County should take a personal interest in this project. When you help to build up the field you are building the town as well as the youth of the community.

Who knows that with these improvements we may once again see the days of Sugar Bowl teams stopping in Bay St. Louis to practice? We could use the national prominence received by this honor. But it will take the cooperation of everyone.

Dove hunters violating game law regulations in Madison County paid a total of $1530 in fines from August 15 through September 16, according to Wade Creekmore, Director of the State Game and Fish Commission. To does when a guest arrives at his house and he is short on accommodations. Let's be gracious and think about the other fellow for a change and give him a place to view the football activities of his son or otherwise.

But, please, if this can be made possible, do not make a replica of the home side stands. We don't want the visiting parents and alumni to remember us by the gray paint on the seats of their nice new pants.

And last, but surely not least, the field itself. It is not as its best. But with a little work it could be worked into one that would suffice for any game.

All of these things will cost money, but if everyone joins in contributing to the total cost it will be small cost to the individual. Each any every person who lives in Hancock County should take a personal interest in this project. When you help to build up the field you are building the town as well as the youth of the community.

Who knows that with these improvements we may once again see the days of Sugar Bowl teams stopping in Bay St. Louis to practice? We could use the national prominence received by this honor. But it will take the cooperation of everyone.

KILN LOSES TO PASS HIGH 31-14; PLAYS LUMBERTON TUESDAY NIGHT

Kiln tried vainly to break into the win column last Friday but lost to a stronger Pass High team.

St. Stanislaus night if travels to Lumberton to back the long losing streak. The coaches are confident that this is the game.

D. J. Stonelypher, the assistant coach said, "We believe we will beat Lumberton. Everybody is set for this game. Our offense is clicking better now and our passing is on the improve."

He added, "Our weakest point is that we do not have enough main acc. We have to play 11 men for most of the games."

Kiln's two touchdowns against the Pass came on two 65 yard runs. Cleveland Wyatt scored the first on an end run. Larry Ladner added the extra point.

The last score for Kiln came when Russell Mitchell intercepted a pass and returned it for the long distance. Ladner again made the point after touchdown.

Pass Christian scored in every quarter but the first. It crossed the goal three times in the second, once in the third and once in the fourth.

Scoring for the Pass was Dolph Tillman on a pass. Maurice Wescovich on a pass. Marval Daly on a five yard end run. Leroy Wescovich on a quarterback sneak and Jimmy Cunningham on a 45 yard end run. Stonelypher had this to say about his team in last week's game, "I think we played a very improved game. We are improving all the time. We are better and the backfield."

"End is still the weakest part of our team. The team as a whole looked better on defense. They were smoother than ever before."

Coach Holloway of Pass High said, "We thought we should have done a little better in this game." But Kiln was palling inspired ball. This was its best game so far this season. It is an improved ball club.

"I hope we can win tonight when we meet Bay High. Bay High is definitely favored in my mind. We have three first string men cut with injuries. Pete Steganga, defensive half-back, Joe Benigno, fullback and Robert Allen, guard. Leo Tillman a half back will take over the fullback duties this week. Palmissano, our second string quarterback was found to be eligible to play last week. He will alternate with Wescovich in the lineup.

"In the Kiln game we couldn't go through the line. All of our gains were around the ends or through the air. Our pass defense has looked very good. Only one pass has been completed against us this year."

Pass High enters the Bay Hi game with an undefeated record. It has won one game and tied one.
